

Whiskey Puppy plays boot-stomping, mule-slapping bluegrass and old time music. The Portland, OR trio brings energy, humor, and skillful musicianship to songs selected from the best of modern bluegrass all the way back to the early Southern string bands. Known for stage antics, sweet three-part harmonies, and their collection of chew toys, Whiskey Puppy has been performing since 2001, receiving howling acclaim from McCarthy, Alaska to San Francisco to Amsterdam and beyond.

Whiskey Puppy features Rachel Gold (Flat Mountain Girls) on guitar, Justin Auld (Redwood Highway) on banjo and fiddle, and Travis "Tater" Harrison (Jackass Willy, Maremoto) on bass. Justin and Rachel are the first-Saturday hosts of KBOO's (90.7 fm Portland) Music from the Truevine show.

Whiskey Puppy is Portland, Oregon's best and only bluegrass-themed performance art collective! We play anything that smells good: boot-stomping, mule-slapping traditional acoustic bluegrass, old time music from the great American string bands of the 1920s-1950s, and tail-wagging original songs. We are a high-energy trio, and well-known throughout the USA's Pacific Northwest for our sweet three-part harmonies, sparkling instrumental tones, and world-class collection of chew toys.
